1 FAM 333.5 Office of the UN System Administration (IO/S)

(TL:ORG-77; 04-07-1999)

a. Responsible for the formulation and implementation of U.S. policies regarding the broad range of administrative/management issues in operations of UN system agencies and, to a lesser extent, of other international organizations. This responsibility entails the monitoring of and participation in both the activities of international organizations and the internal U.S. Government budget/legislative process.

b. Divided into three areas: the UN System Budgets Unit (IO/S/SB), responsible for budget and financial issues; the System Coordination Unit (IO/S/SC), responsible for personnel policies, practices, and emoluments along with institutional management/coordination and program evaluation issues; and the UN Employment Information and Assistance Unit (IO/S/EA), responsible for leading and coordinating U.S. Government efforts to promote increased representation of U.S. citizens on the staffs of UN agencies and other international organizations.

1 FAM 333.6 Office of International Conferences (IO/OIC)

(TL:ORG-62; 01-31-1995)

a. Manages U.S. participation in multilateral conferences, including the selection, accreditation and instruction of U.S. delegations. Obligates representational funds to certain U.S. delegations in furtherance of U.S. objectives. Manages administrative services and facilities for U.S. delegations to international conferences abroad, and for conferences hosted by the United States.

b. More detailed information on the subject of international conferences may be found in 2 FAM.

1 FAM 333.7 Office of Economic and Social Affairs (IO/ESA)

(TL:ORG-77; 04-07-1999)

Coordinates U.S. participation in all of the UN bodies dealing with economic and social issues—the UN General Assembly Second and Third Committees, the UN Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), the regional economic commissions, the UN Commission on Human Rights, the UN Commission on Social Development, the UN Commission on the Status of Women, the UN Commission on Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice and others. Through these various international bodies, the office promotes U.S. policies in the areas of trade, finance, debt, and development; human rights; crime prevention; humanitarian relief and refugees; and youth, aging, disability, and women's affairs. ESA also takes the lead in promoting reform of the UN's economic and social institutions, and in developing U.S. policy with regard to nongovernmental organizations (NGOs) in the UN system. This work requires extensive networking with other bureaus and agencies, and regular travel to UN conferences where officers have the opportunity to participate in multilateral negotiations.

1 FAM 333.8 Office of Technical Specialized Agencies (IO/T)

(TL:ORG-77; 04-07-1999)

Responsible within the Department for the planning, coordination, and implementation of U.S. policy towards the technical specialized agencies and a number of other programs in the United Nations system. The office is the principal point of contact with IO missions in Geneva (WHO, ILO, ITO, WIPO, WMO), Vienna (IAEA, CND), Montreal, Paris (UNESCO), and Nairobi (UNEP). IO/T is the lead office for the Commission on Sustainable Development (CSD). The office has lead responsibility for developing U.S. positions on all matters concerning the administration, structure, and foreign policy issues debated in those organizations, and coordinates or contributes to the preparation of positions on operational/technical matters. Members of the office work closely with other State Department bureaus and offices, other government departments, private organizations, and Congress, as necessary, and serve on U.S. delegations to meetings of agencies for which they have responsibility. IO/T represents IO on issues dealing with science, ocean, and environment in the CSD, UNESCO, UNEP, and IRCC.

1 FAM 333.9 Office of International Development Assistance (IO/D)

(TL:ORG-77; 04-07-1999)

Formulates and implements policies concerning the principal multilateral development organizations of the United Nations system. Evaluates and plans development programs and budgets for these organizations and conducts assessments of the effectiveness of UN field programs. Prepares position papers and participates on U.S. Government delegations to the governing bodies of UN agencies in its portfolio. Conducts operational and technical matters in coordination with other U.S. departments and agencies, including USAID, HHS, Commerce, Agriculture, and the NSC. The office is also responsible for U.S. policy towards international organizations concerned with agriculture, forestry and fisheries as well as for U.S. policy toward the major UN economic development and humanitarian activities.
